

The Miseducation of..

WRITTEN BY ANYAH NANCY JACKSON

The Miseducation of... Is proud a reflection of a 22 year old trying to figure out where she fits in this world. A 4 piece unproduced project that celebrates Blackness, comforts my confusion, and Honors my Nina. It's a curated piece that is meant to meet Black people where they are and inspire them to keep going. I was not sure what this project would become, I originally partnered with another BENAC colleague, but this was definitely a project that I needed to produce myself, and I am so glad that I did. This entire process has left me a stronger woman, with a new way of seeing myself and others. I was diagnosed with dyslexia in the first grade. At the very start of my academic journey, I was told there is something wrong with the way I learn, write, and read. This project, "The Miseducation of..." is a documentation of me taking my power, the things I know, the things I'm scared of, the things I know to understand and reimagining what I have to give through music and poetry.

I hope that my words inspire others to think and feel. There is so much to learn and unlearn.

WITH LOVE, ANJ
